CHEER CLARK IN HOUSE

LEADER RECEIVES AN OVATION WHEN HE TAKES HIS SEAT.

Many Congressmen and Senators Are Attending Their Final Session, Having Been Defeated.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Promptly at noon today both houses of congress entered on the short session of the Sixty-first congress. There was a good attendance in both branches and the galleries were crowded.

Just at the completion of the prayer in the house today Representative, Champ Clark, of Missouri, entered the chamber and the democratic side burst into prolonged cheering hailing him as the next speaker. Mr. Clark acknowledged the ovation merely by bowing.

In the senate a number of new faces were to be seen.

Tillman in Seat.
Senator Tillman, who had been absent from his seat for some time, was in his place. He showed the effects of his long illness, and entered the chamber supporting himself by a stout cane. Senator Scott, just convalescent from an illness that confined him to his bed for several days, also was in his place.

Cannon Applauded.
Speaker Cannon received a remarkable ovation when he took the chair to announce the opening session of the house. The applause lasted several minutes and the democrats joined with the republicans in acclaiming the veteran legislator.

Representative Champ Clark was given a similar ovation when he entered immediately upon the conclusion of the prayer, the democrats hailing him as the speaker of the next house.

Session is Short.
Both houses adjourned almost immediately after the formal session, with the roll call and the adoption of resolutions on the passing of those members who have died since the adjournment of the last session.

Taft's Message.
President Taft's message will probably be read tomorrow before congress.
